

Myths/Sing to Life

Esus A Bm A
There were two lovers free, like a wind too strong too hold
D C#m7 Esus A
The fatefulness of their lives is a story often told
Esus A Bm A
And yet I've seen them all alone, in the angel eyes of night
D C#m7 Bm E7 A
Love it is a song that calls us to the spirit of this life
D C#m7 Bm7 Esus A
Love it is a song that calls us to the spirit of this life

You know the night's a time of dark, when mysteries will ride
Like wild horses in the mountains with fear upon their sides
Yet the light accepts the dark, like the sea accepts the stream
Day and night they are two seasons in the passing of this dream
Day and night they are two seasons in the passing of this dream

There was a lonely man who sailed up to the sun
He could not stay lost forever in the circle of his time
So he rode the fire-spun clouds, his vision crying clear
He said the light you see it is a river in which all life is found
The light you see it is a river in which all life is found----

Sing to Life

A D /C# Bm A /G# F#m
The night begat the day, the newborn child sleeps
B7 Esus A
The green earth stands to see her early morning star

The day welcomes the flower whose petals rise to see
A field of harmony, balance under sky
(Chorus)
A D /C# Bm A /G#
Sing to life, you only need her answer
F#m B7 Esus A
Sing to Life, you only need to answer her

The flower knows the cloud who sends her water down
Cools the silver air and grasses all around
The Cloud begins the storm, wind sweeps down the open plain
Leaves whistle through the rain to the circling sky
(Chorus)
The storm welcomes the night, the child wakes from colored dreams the moon paints satin sheens across the evening sky
